These horses come from a man that will never get enough credit for all the bucking horses that are out there. You don't want to match resumes as it goes back a long ways. Many Canadian contractors have made a living and got the credit for his horses, they're from TX now to Washington, some 20 yrs old and still performing. 7 or 8 head of futurity horses in Cheyenne this year on 2 of the top teams out of 16 teams were horses out of his stud. Stan Headings and mine. We all got them thru him. The old stud is probably the best producing studs in North America.

Used only twice this year. This is going to be a nice horse, marked 19 at Cheyenne, WY and 20 pts at Maah Daah Hey Stampede. He just jumps & kicks, looks rider friendly. One they can all ride and win on. Big horse, gentle. Can go any direction.

Used at 2 futurities. This mare has placed 4th at Faith futurity and 5th at Watford City futurity. She is big, gets a lot of air. Kicks good. She just can't beat the little firecrackers. She needs a rider and will be one they win on. This mare has a lot of potential to be a ProRodeo BB horse as I can see a lot of success in her future.

Sent him down to Dale for him to use and I never got bucked. Has been out in Canada and supposed to be good. He's a big nice colt. Could be the best one, I don't know.

SB

Here is a buckner, used 2 times only this summer in the SB. She's threw everyone off fast so hard to tell. Good to be around, gentle but comes alive in the chute. If I would pick a young horse with the most future I would pick her. She's got jam, gets a lot of air, kicks good. Would love to see her in the BB for a year. I think she will be a feature horse.
